

Has yellow flash swept through your glyphosate-resistant soybeans?

Use Conklin Feast® Chelated 6% Manganese to keep your soybeans a healthy, lush green, and not a nutrient-deficient yellow! Applying EDTA chelated manganese in combination with glyphosate products has been proven to help overcome induced manganese deficiency brought on by application of glyphosate. Feast Manganese is 100% chelated using an EDTA chelating agent, and is the ideal source of manganese to co-apply with your weed control.

“I treated a portion of my soybean field with Roundup® and the rest with Roundup mixed with one pint/acre of Conklin’s Manganese. When I harvested the field diagonally I noticed the yield monitor jumped eight BPA where I’d applied the Manganese and dropped eight BPA where I hadn’t. When you’re talking $12 beans, an 8-BPA increase is a $96 return for just a few dollars.”

– Paul S., Missouri

Yellow flash will ultimately impact yield.

In tests, applying Chelated Manganese to glyphosate-resistant soybeans cut back yellow flash and improved yield an average of 7.4 BPA

Actual yield results have varied between .5 and 10-BPA increase on soybeans.
